Hello frenz. I found this sub just recently and I'm glad I did. I feel like this is the only sub that I feel comfortable posting my theory in. Some of you have already seen some of my graphics but perhaps haven't heard my theory.

Theory: We weren't supposed to know about GME. Citadel is the sacrificial lamb.

First off, for those that haven't realized it yet, GME is part of a bigger plan. When GME rocketed to over $480/share, it raised alot of eyebrows. During this time, this graphic started circulating:

<https://flic.kr/p/2kYgNq2>

As someone who is in another well known movement that is also being demonized by the msm, I'm very familiar with these kinds of graphics because I make them...though they didn't have to do with GME. Shortly after that graphic went around, Don Jr posted this on Gab:

<https://flic.kr/p/2kY9iiG>

This got me looking into Gamestop a lot closer. Could this be yet another white hat play? It definitely falls in line with what we had seen from 45 and the plan he is a part of...constant stings to catch the swamp.

So I started paying closer attention to the news and the cryptic tweets coming from people like DFV. When DFV was asked by the House Finance Committee to testify, I noticed some more interesting connections to info posted by a now infamous insider. I decided to make a graphic to illustrate these connections:

<https://flic.kr/p/2kYcL7e>

Notice that date? The exact same date to the day with a 2 year Delta in between. Look at what was posted..."Dead Cat Bounce. Nothing can stop this". Then look at what was posted by CNBC in the scrolling marquee ("Keith Kill"), who was testifying ("Roaring KITTY") and what it said behind Keith..."HANG in there". After I saw these obvious connections I went all in on GME as I knew the squeeze would happen. Nothing could stop it.

I started looking for more connections and made a few more graphics based on comms from known patriots...of which I now considered DFV one. Apparently one of his first accounts on here had the user name of "White Cat". Sounds an awful lot like "White Hat" eh?

So I started looking closely at his tweets as well. See below...

<https://flic.kr/p/2kYgNpF>

<https://flic.kr/p/2kYio5k>

Of course I now had to look for connections to Gamestop tweets and I found some although they are a little bit more difficult to follow:

And lastly some early comms from the NSA that appear to tie into the GME saga:

So hopefully through these you can see that Gamestop is connected to a much larger plan. I feel confident that the squeeze will happen but one thing confuses me...why does a swampy company like BlackRock hold such a large share in a company where other swampy hedge funds are attempting to short it into oblivion? I always thought these people were on the same team.

Maybe they are?

Have you heard how much real estate that Blackrock has been buying up lately? How about all of their other holdings? They own a large chunk of many large corporations.

https://www.americanthinker.com/blog/2021/06/blackrock_owns_americas_homes__and_a_whole_lot_els_e.html

Many of these corporations I would call globalist controlled. The globalists are those group of "elite" individuals that wish to get rid of countries and everyone fall under a one world government...where they sit at the top and control everything. Gamestop seems to be dealing a blow to this same group of people. So this leads to a lot of confusion. And then I read that BlackRock is a big supporter of The Great Reset.

Kind of mentioned here:

<https://finance.yahoo.com/news/great-reset-blackrock-fueling-120-210000214.html>

But in more detail here:

<https://uncoverdc.com/2021/07/02/the-great-reset-covid-19-cyberattacks-china-blackrock/>

If you don't know what The Great Reset is, I suggest you read up on it. It is basically a plan to enslave humanity for our own good. You won't be able to own anything other than that which the government gives you. They will give you a stipend to live on and that is it. Very scary.

Now you notice how we have this new term they have coined "meme stocks". The ones the msm always refers to as having the most potential are BB, NOK, AMC, CLOV, etc....but never GME. We are always told GME is over and the squeeze already happened. Thanks to the great due diligence in this sub and others, we know this isn't the case. Why would the corrupt msm say this yet play up the other "meme stocks"?

Theory: retail investors investing in "meme stocks" will be blamed for the market crash. This will be the excuse the globalist use to usher in The Great Reset.

The globalists have set this up so that Ken G and friends profit off of naked shorting shares with no intention of ever covering. That money is pocketed by him and his buddies. The tab is kicked around with the ultimate goal of the Fed jumping in and using tax money to pay the bill. The globalist Cabal knows the situation and knows that if they invest in GME, they can make a lot of money when it squeezes if they are willing to sacrifice one of their own...Citadel. Anyone who has researched the Cabal knows that sacrificing one of their own is not uncommon.

The thing is, the globalists always saw retail as dumb money. We were never supposed to know about GME being the way to hedge against the financial collapse. But we proved them wrong. We were told about GME by a patriot (DFV) and the rest is history.

This theory is the only way my smooth ape brain can reconcile that we share a side in this fight with a company as sinister as BlackRock.

Alternative theory one: BlackRock has actually turned over a new leaf and their push for The Great Reset is all for optics. All of their holdings have undergone new leadership and the Cabal execs removed. Further exploration of this theory can be done by digging into the huge amount of unprecedented resignations found here: resignation.info

Are some of these resignations people who are working in BlackRock held companies?

Alternative Theory two: The white hats knew that corrupt hedge funds liked to profit off driving companies into the ground. They found a connection of someone at GME having connections to someone at Citadel, Melvin, etc. They purposefully leaked bad information knowing that Citadel and friends would get wind of it and use it to their advantage. Then, white hats started their play to turn around the fundamentals and show that this was a transforming company. Unfortunately this theory does not answer as to why we are on the same side of this fight as BlackRock. This type of play is par for the course for the white hats though.

So those are my thoughts frens. I welcome any comments or critiques. If you are here to regurgitate the narrative that KYOU is just a conspiracy theory, please take that elsewhere. People are waking up now and your simpleton msm inspired thoughts are rapidly becoming the minority. Remember that the same people that tell you it is a conspiracy theory are the same people that tell you the shorts have covered and Epstein killed himself.

This fight is very real and has bubbled up to the surface and is being fought on all fronts: elections, political, religious, corporate, banking, financial etc.

As GME shareholders, you are on the right side. The question is, why do we share this side with BlackRock?

Update: this article was from March 2020 after Trump merged the Federal Reserve with the Treasury...

<https://www.financemagnates.com/institutional-forex/regulation/federal-reserve-hires-blackrock-to-manage-bond-purchases/>

Since they are handling the trades of all these CMBS that are supposed to cause the market crash, maybe BlackRock will be to blame and thus liquidated for reparations?

Thoughts?
