

Title: TD Ameritrade to Computershare

Author: DearConsequence

Created 2021-09-21 10:56:55 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/psgdt/td_ameritrade_to_computershare/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/psgdt/td_ameritrade_to_computershare/

Pretty easy. Never spoke to anyone. Followed prior guidance. On 9/12, I submitted the completed TDA371 form, on TD, and uploaded via their message center. I received a confirmation email on the same day. Then nothing until 9/20. I noticed my XX number of shares were missing on TD. I saw in another post that I would receive info in the mail from Computershare but I hate waiting. It's also somewhat unsettling to have XX GME shares disappear without being to see them at their new location. So I took a gamble and created a new account with Computershare. I was given the option of waiting to receive a letter in the mail with a code or completing their online verification process for immediate access to my new account. Since I'm an impatient ape, I went with the second option. Three simple questions, all based off of vehicle or property records. Answered those correctly and voila, there were my XX GME shares, already at Computershare. Painless. I wish I could transfer my other XX shares, but those are hanging out in a Roth IRA to hopefully grow, beyond the moon, tax free!

Edit 1: I forgot to mention that on Friday, 9/17, I received an email (but not a TD Message Center message) that my transfer was in progress and it would take 8 to 12 business days. But it actually completed Monday night, 9/21, so not even 2 full business days.