

Title: Fallout

Author: RatioatLoveAI

Created 2021-05-28 14:58:32 UTC

Permalink: /r/ratioatblessions/comments/nmzob0/fallout/

Url: <https://www.reddit.com/r/ratioatblessions/comments/nmzob0/fallout/>

I'll keep this short. There is a list of companies out there that make sweet money. Companies with good earning yields (important to read on this if you haven't). Companies with some great real estate or a LOT of land. BIG fall today for some great companies. If you only have GME on your watch list and think today is just some bar coding, expand your horizons and look around. They are selling their long positions, their hedges against inflation. The stocks they wanted to be in so bad because they would own everything...they now have to get rid of them. Too bad. Or too good shall I say. Because always remember, one for all, and all for one. The night was hard for everyone, but at dawn it's going to be a better day for everyone. No being left behind. One would be a fool to keep digging to the center of the earth when we can reach the stars.