"If I had pledged the majority of my shareholdings to support personal loans, I might hate short sellers too.":

Short sellers keep share prices low.

"But short sellers on a stock have NOTHING ZERO ZILCH NADA to do with the success or failure of the underlying business.":

Short sellers can not destroy a business on their own. A successful business will thrive.

These are my interpretations of the tweet. He obviously includes language to say "I'm smarter than you" because that's kind of his whole schtick and he keeps things broad and obscure the same way fortune tellers scam you, but the statement elements are there and I agree with them.

Also he used Spanish like two other high profile tweeters recently O.o
