

Title: Degiro sold my shares that I wanted to transfer to IBKR

Author: Working-Yesterday243

Created 2021-11-30 13:19:54 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/r5n51c/degiro_sold_my_shares_that_i_wanted_to_transfer/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/r5n51c/degiro\_sold\_my\_shares\_that\_i\_wanted\_to\_transfer/

First, I want to say that the time to transfer from Degiro to IBKR only took 3 days. So, I am satisfied with their speed.

After my shares arrived to Computershare, one user wrote in the post that I made regarding my transfer experience from Degiro to IBKR, that Degiro sold his shares.

So, I checked the activity on my account and I found out that they did this also to my shares:

T0: demand to transfer made to Degiro (and IBKR in the same day)

T+2 (at midnight 0:00): Degiro sells the number of shares that I wanted to transfer (at the market value)

T+3: four activities: All in the same minute (so I don't know the order exactly), for the same amount of shares (that I wanted to transfer) and all with 0 value attached to them (value of one share and also the total value 0):

Sell Gamestop Corp – Non tradeable

Buy Gamestop Corp

Buy Gamestop Corp – Non tradeable

Sell Gamestop Corp

My question: why would they first sell my shares and buy others and after that transfer them to IBKR? I have never sold ANY of the shares that I bought.

Some wiser apes care to help me better understand?