Unless you are buying ■■■. I know personally I'm holding for a phone number. If it's not life changing tendies I'm not selling. Any price other than a phone number for GME is a sale! Take this as an opportunity to average down if you came in later, if you're an OG. Hey Fucker average the fuck up ■. We don't have insiders selling why should we. The people close to what GME is rolling out haven't sold a god damn thing. If our CEO was selling left and right that would be another thing. Not naming any other stocks of course. Not financial advice at all. I like the stock and I'm excited about what GME is brining to the table in the future.
