I've been following this for the past couple years, but would like to dive deeper into stock market trends, patterns, earnings, news, etc.

However, I am not looking to rely on information given by certain sources, since we all know they can't be trusted.

Can any apes suggest actually good websites that are run by honest people, who are preferably not short gme?

That have daily stock market updates, without cherry picking data in favor of msm and shf

Mainly trying to avoid market watch, trading view, yahoo finance, fool, all the basic household names.

Really looking forward to the answers some of you might suggest

As always, buy, hodl, drs is the way

Nfa

tldr; looking to day trade more but not with gme. what websites are worth paying attention to that are not run by shf?
