My only hope after all of this crime and manipulation with GME and every other body of Government is that one day we can all expect the same results. I've never been rich so I'm ok with never being rich I've always spent any left over money on helping stray cats. So if I do become well off their will be that many more healthy cats out their. But my biggest and most dream is that ones day a man who commits a crime gets punished no matter what they're last name is. Your accused of doing anything poor people are guilty until proven innocent but yet depending on your name the Elite don't even see a judge. PELOSI insider trading still doing it today with 0 accountability. Mayo stealing pensions and still living fat on his jet. All of these politicians just getting away with anything they want. I pray that one day the whole corrupt system gets exposed and they ALL spends their remaining years in prison or worse. That's y I won't sell until this happens. So either I never sell and give to my kids or they build bigger prisons and lock them all up. Not about the money for me. So sorry Kenny boy can't win.
