Why DTC holding shares and not distributing to brokers? They know the stock is sold multiple times than outstanding shares. They know GameStop is building big marketplace and lots of partnership coming soon, nft books, nft tickets, nft games, nft movies and many more, Now people who don't own gme see GameStop is going to make multi billion dollars every quarter, lots of institutional and big players are going to buy and this time people know about DRS and they are going to buy on Computershare, They need to deliver shares to these people.
