I've held since January (2021) and had to sell off a few shares here and there due to struggles and my car getting broken into and vandalized, but for the first time in a while I'll have money to burn and what better way to burn than to buy more shares during all these red weeks and price being in double digits! Need to buy back my shares and then some if it stays this low in 2 weeks.

Can't stop won't stop GME
