

Title: I know, I know. I should have acted a long time ago. As a last ditch effort to make sure I don't miss out, please help this moron.

Before I start, I don't hold huge amount of gme. I bought single digits with revolut (UK) during the original rush and when they turned the restricted purchases I bought more single digits with etoro (don't berate me). Although I have kept the faith knowing it will come to fruition, I have also buried my head in the sand when it comes to drs. I keep an eye on all the posts and with all the new news I really want to get my head out the sand and get sorted. What steps can I take and what info do I need. That is if its not already too late.

If there is something on the lower pecking order of smooth brain, I introduce myself.

P. S love you all you crazy apes.
