Never in all my four years of investing has so many strangers been this concerned over what I invest in. Now, with that said, even the veteran traders with decades in the market have never had this much push back from strangers in regards to their investments. Ask yourself why. Why would the MSM continue to slam gme? Why would they put out articles claiming information from "someone close to the company" or whatever? Because they're getting fucking desperate, thats why! I think the call options shit has them panicking and they're trying to keep any new money from playing the options game.

They're still in control of the price, but as we continue to DRS that control will slip more and more into our hands. Remember, we are early! We are still early. They wouldn't be investing so much time, money, and effort into spinning the narrative if they had closed their positions. Think about that.
