I am a fucking idiot. That's first. Second, I have no idea if this has to do with Say technology being acquired by RH, but all of my alerts have disappeared. Like poof. Seventy or eighty of them. So, check your alerts and make sure those alert notifications are turned on, please! This reeks of fuckery I did not accidentally delete them or whatever shit TDA might say. It took me forever to set those up, too. Motherforkers! (My family says I need to work on my profanity issue—I'm sure you can imagine it's an uphill battle. Anyway, make sure your alerts are turned on and still active. That's all. The end.
