I wish that financial, economic regulators and oversight groups would stop dicking around and end this already. Time is the only thing hedgies need to avoid really being held accountable (they are moving everything offshore and into other sectors as we speak) and the oversight infrastructure is giving it to them in spades. Time gives them the ability to make other plans. Time has been up for centuries.

I don't want to hear any more of the excuses about how "it takes time to put the correct documentation into place" and "it's a hard job"...or "they want to avoid getting sued" yada yada yada. That's bullshit. The documentation is already there. The apes have done all the legwork and the heavy lifting. Get your fucking act together, Gary and friends.

If we can shut the entire world down for more than a year and do so in under two weeks, we sure as hell can put a stop to this fuckery. I will hodl forever if I have to, but the time for the right thing is always NOW. Always. So, get it done, you nutsack dragging dickweeds. Tell your corrupt buddies, business partners, and legislators they can't pay you off or give you handjobs under the table for special favors.

Okay. Happy birthday to me! Here goes nothing...■■■
