I am sad to report having been slain on the first boss; however, hope is not lost. This morning I rented a Kayak for $35 and in the safety briefing was told it was unsafe to cross underneath the bridges, and the Pirate Captain is on the opposite side of the kayak launch side. I soon after took an unplanned swim in the ocean with my phone; I have it sitting in rice hoping that everything works out. I was unable to reach the Pirate Captain on my first go at it. The thing I love about the Gamer mentality is that we don't give up after the first attempt. I tried a strategy and it didn't work, now it is time to try a new plan. I have a few options, one of which includes just swimming to the pirate ship, but that also presents safety risks. Once I can get the alternator changed on my truck, I plan to borrow a kayak from a friend and paddle my way out to meet the Captain from the Northside of the Causeway. Stay tuned for further development. Power to the Players
