Title: Said it once, now making it a post. What do you apes think?

Author: PAPASHMOP

Created 2022-03-28 14:32:49 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/tgamw2/said it once now making it a post what do you/

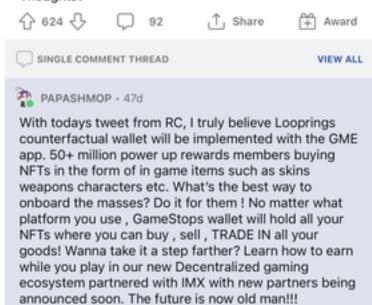

Url: https://i.redd.it/uroyz39tx4q81.jpg

wanted to self-regulate a DEX for US business securities; based on the premise that his company is being illegally naked shorted to death and can't grow in the environment the DTCC has created, and in fact the DTCC is holding back the entire US economy by not putting technology first and profits second. This would be a similar take to the letter RC wrote the GME board before joining it, talking about how they are holding the company back. I think they will use these abuses as justification for this part of their game plan, which might be a long way out. I hope it isn't. I hope the tweets from the GME blockchain devs and LRC devs talking about reworking the economy weren't grandiose.

This is, of course, just theory. Fun thoughts to think about, but I'm not going to position myself around this concept.

... // Edit | 🛖 8 🖑

Add a comment