Title: A question that's been lingering in my mind (I eat way too many crayons to have an idea of possible outcomes)

Author: camlove222

Created 2022-02-24 23:51:55 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/t0p4kw/a_question_thats_been_lingering_in_my_mind_i_eat/

Url:

https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/t0p4kw/a_question_thats_been_lingering_in_my_mind_i_eat/

Here goes, I hope I don't sound too stupid here...

Theoretically, if somehow the US government were able to buy back all of our GME shares at a "fair price" in order to stop the impending doom (I don't even know if this is possible?) and all manipulation on our favorite stock was actually put to a stop, wouldn't that create an extreme buying frenzy (considering we own the float possibility multiple times over) making GME shares hard to get? Wouldn't that make the price skyrocket? Would GameStop issue more shares? Can they actually even stop us now that retail has such a positive sentiment toward the stock?

I know that's a lot of questions there, but I guess I'm just really trying to understand if there's any possible way for me and my fellow investors to be screwed here. I just feel like even if they pull some next level criminal shit, retail is taking this stock to the moon.