Another young suicide in my home town here in Wales UK... fuck the lambos fuck the big house the first thing I'm opening is a wellness centre fora little faith in humanity.. people share all this crap on Facebook but the truth is if everyone were as morally grounded as they claim then people would talk first instead of just feeling judged and pointless.. the world needs big big changes and wirh GME these changes can be made...my lambo will eventually rot but my legacy will live on... rest in peace young man!!! I hope others will follow suit because people need people more than people will ever know
