Christos, I've checked the screenshot you've sent, and I wanted to confirm that the agent (from the screenshot) provided wrong information - such situation didn't happen. There is no restriction (by either us, our partner) on trading AMC or GME. What is true, though, is that all stocks may be temporarily halted, which is outside our control, and is determined by the stock exchange.

So no such thing as an enforced increase of 250% upon Drivewealth clearing partners etc

I'm aware of halts and I know when they happen..

No, nothing like that at all.
