MAIN EDIT: PER CS ALL CS SHARES ARE BOOK SHARES. IT SEEMS THEY HAVE AN INTERNAL SYSTEM THAT IS "LIKE" STREET SHARES SO THEY CAN SPLIT INTO FRACTIONS. HOWEVER THEY ARE IN YOUR NAME STILL. THIS MEANS YOU CAN GET FRACTIONAL DIVS. REST EASY APES.

See the page one in the plan.

Plan shares are labeled SP1 and get dividend reinvestment

"Book" shares are labeled CA1 and get cash.

That's all.

All cancelling div reinvestment does is sell your partials And you pay $25 to not HODL.

CALL CS. ALL SHARES ARE TECHNICALLY BOOK SHARES.

STOP THE INSANITY

Quick edit. See pages 8-9 of the DirectStock plan.

Why would you risk selling for a benefit that you don't even know if it exists?

For what it's worth I've asked every single time I've called if "plan" shares are technically book shares. Go call them and ask.

What I did just in case was I left 1.2x shares in my DirectStock plan and I called and called until I got a helpful person to transfer some whole shares to "CA1 Book" designation.

You should not even have to turn off cash to do this.

Edit#3. Obligatory ■■■M and a hotdog is a sandwich.

Just for the record I am NOT anti DRS. If you like it then awesome!! There is a way to do it without potentially selling shares and that is what I'm advocating for me personally.
