Something I noticed recently: when there are articles about corruption at the fed reserve (for instance), there are almost always top comments including the article text along with phrases like "save yourself the click" or "dont give them traffic"

But these are the types of articles that need/deserve clicks. maybe just include a tldr. It's the fuddy ass gamestop articles that don't deserve traffic.

Reward the good journalism, punish the propaganda.

That is all. Happy anniversary ■
