That's it. No dd, No dates. No FUD or hope. This is all there is.

Merry christmas to everyone here. Thank you for being you, and thank you for being here.
This whole thing started with me buying a stock, expecting a few extra tendies. It turned out to be so much more. I've never had much contact with my family, and i celebrate christmas alone this year, but at the same time, i can sit down, relax, and know that my real family is here, right here on Reddit. You guys have kept me company every day for almost a year now.

Keep up the amazing work. Thank you all for being here, and keep on being awesome.
Let's go into the new year together, and be stronger for it. Let's be one, not divided. Let's conquer the world, together.

Merry Christmas my fellow apes. My friends. My everything. Keep being awesome. Buy GME. Hold GME. DRS. Yay
